Using a smartphone to produce .pdf documents.

iOS - Scannable by Evernote	Android - Drive (Google)
(requires Google Drive app, Google Classroom app to turn in homework)	(requires Google Classroom app to turn in homework)
Set each page on a background that's a different colour than your paper.	Set each page on a background that's a different colour than your paper.
Allow access to camera	Open the app and tap the "+". (if using the widget, skip this step)
Let the app find and take a photo of each page.	Tap the camera icon.
Tap the checkmark when all pages are done.	Turn on the flash (lightning icon) if necessary.
Tap "scannable document".	Tap the blue circle to take a picture.
Change the filename. (e.g. 4.1 Matthew)	Tap the "+" icon to add more pages.
Next to "scannable document" it should say ".pdf" (if there's a picture icon instead, tap it.)	Tap the circular arrow icon to redo.
Make sure each page is cropped and easy to read.	When all pages are scanned, crop them using the crop icon (if necessary).
You can tap each page to crop/rotate/restore the colours.	Tap the palette icon to turn off color enhancement. (You can do this permanently under settings).
Make sure all the pages are legible, cropped correctly, in the right order and selected (checked)	When all pages are cropped and looking good, tap the checkmark.
Tap "Send"	Tap the filename to type a new one.
Tap "Share"	Make sure the account is your school account and the folder is the correct one.
Look at the top row of apps for the Google Classroom app. If it's not there, tap "More" and turn on the Google Classroom slider.	Click save.
Tap "done".
You should now be able to select the Google Classroom App and submit the assignment.	Open the Google Classroom app.
	Find the assignment you want to submit.
	Under "Your Work" tap "+ Add attachment".
If the direct to Classroom method doesn't work, the following workaround should.	Tap the "Drive" icon.
	Choose the appropriate file.
Go to the "Share" option.	Turn in your homework.
Look at the top row of apps for the Google Drive app. If it's not there, tap "More" and turn on the Google Drive slider.

Tap "done".
Tap "Google Drive" (icon)
Save to "My Drive" (or somewhere else if you prefer).
Open the Google Classroom app.
Find the assignment you want to submit.
Under "Your Work" tap "+ Add attachment".
Tap the "Drive" icon.
Choose the appropriate file.
Turn in your homework.	